Hillman Scholars
Annual Meeting 2014
May 20-22, 2014, Ann Arbor
The Annual Meeting

Every year, Hillman scholars and faculty from the University of Michigan, the University of North Carolina, and the University of Pennsylvania gather to discuss the state of nursing science, their progress in the program, and ideas for the future. This year, the group met in Ann Arbor at the University of Michigan. They were joined by Hillman Foundation director Ahrin Mishan.
Nurses as Designers

Scholars met with the MIT design team to explore how nurses can use their expertise for innovation in health care.
Patient-Centered Innovation

Scholars worked in teams to design devices to address problems presented in different patient scenarios.
Evening at the Art Museum

The Hillman group gathered at the University of Michigan Museum of Art, where they were joined by Dean Potempa and other faculty from the University of Michigan School of Nursing.
Those Who Stay Will Be Champions

Hillman scholars and faculty toured the Big House, the University of Michigan's legendary football stadium (top).

Scholars also had the opportunity to share their research interests with others and discuss their progress at various stages of undergraduate and doctoral studies.
An Exciting Year Ahead

Scholars left the Annual Meeting ready to represent the future generation of nurse scientists and tackle another year of research and innovation in health care.
